Hi Sir,

now the problem arise not only from aging population, but also structural economy change and high portion of mainland immigrats to hk.
without solve this 2 problems, doesn't make any excuse to launch new policy.

hk gov't already put too much on middle-class.
for me, my family already don't use public hospital.
(for baby born, emergency unit etc) because of the long timing and bad services don't match to middle-class people. (as we have to work and busy)
we've already paid for ourselves.
and without enjoy hk citizen's facilities why we have to pay even more to it?

6 options are unfair (didn't see any care to middle-class) and mostly overlap. (employer or many people already have medical insurance etc) because you just annouced reduction of tax burden to middle-class but take another way to collect the money.

If 6 options are talking for future,
the best way should be take GST. or even try other channels to increase income.
because this is a fair way to collect money from public (from all levels of people).
and then more income for budget allocation to medical and education etc.

KR, Jena
