Purpose

The Strategic Purchasing Office of the Health Bureau of the Government (the "SPO") intends to solicit market information for the provision of services for Community Pharmacy Programme (Residential Care Homes) (the "CPP (RCH)") of Hong Kong (the "Services").

Background

The Chief Executive's 2024 Policy Address announced the launch of the CPP, with the aim of implementing the recommendation of adopting a multi-disciplinary approach for the proper management of chronic diseases in the community as set out in the Primary Healthcare Blueprint (the "Blueprint"). CPP aims at alleviating the burden on the public healthcare system while driving the sustainable development of the primary healthcare system through public-private partnership as well as enhancing the professional role of community pharmacists within the primary healthcare team.

The CPP will adopt two service models, namely the Community and the Residential Care Homes. The CPP (RCH) is expected to commence in phases starting from the first quarter of 2027. Under the CPP (RCH), HA-prescribed drugs will be regularly dispensed to HA patients residing in RCHs for the elderly and persons with disabilities to improve the current practice of daily drug sorting and distribution by RCH staff, with a view to enhancing patients' drug compliance and reducing the risks associated with overstocking of drugs. The services of the CPP (RCH) include drug dispensing, reconciling, and prepackaging of the daily required drugs. In addition, pharmacists will assist RCHs in adopting information technology for drug management to enhance drug safety in RCHs.

Apart from basic drug dispensing service, community pharmacies will also provide standard Value-added Services and non-standard Value-added Services that are proposed by the community pharmacies and accepted by the Government. As for the CPP (RCH), value-added services include multi-dose packaging for solid-oral medications, setup of electronic Medication Administration Record (eMAR) systems, drug management and storage at RCHs, health promotion and staff training programme, thereby ensuring safe and accurate drug administration, as well as enhancing drug safety in RCHs.

The Government is actively taking forward various initiatives to promote primary healthcare development in accordance with the Blueprint and is exploring the feasibility to have collaboration with community pharmacies to provide the CPP Services through strategic purchasing with the support of the SPO, with a view to strengthening the primary healthcare services as a whole.
